BILL SHILLALIES

My work is influenced by both the practice of making and the natural forces in our environment. Physical impulses are represented in the process of creation as well as the finished piece. I find inspiration in the natural world around us, the change of seasons, rock formations, and the natural earth. Through examination of the natural, my work explores the distinction between movement and fragmentation.
-B.Shillalies

Bill Shillalies, a resident of East Massapequa, grew up in Germany and has been working in clay for over 35 years. He fires his work in many different techniques such as gas firing, Raku firing, wood firing, salt firing, basically any firing that he needs to achieve the surface treatment that satisfies his soul. He studied with Susan Peterson, Robert Morris, Peter Voukos and Peter Callas.
