Learning to Look with John Cino

Have you ever wondered why Leonardo's "Last Supper" looks the way it does, or why artists put certain things in still-lives, or what Picasso was thinking, or why art from other traditions looks so different? This two-part lecture will offer tools for the viewer to better understand the message delivered through works of art. Exploring works from Renaissance, Modern, Asian art, and Africana art, the concepts of symbolism, form, function, and abstraction will be discussed.

SPECIAL LECTURE SERIES

Beginning in March 2019 PAC will present a new series of art talks in a very special way. Each art historical topic will be paired with wines from the associated region.

First up, John Cino will be speaking about Post-Impressionism. Get ready for some French wines as the art transforms from Realism to Abstraction and beyond in a thirty year period. Other fascinating topics will be explored in 2019 by guest speakers.

WINING ABOUT ART: Post Impressionism
Saturday, March 16, 2019 6:00PM – 8:00PM • $35

What better way to kick-off Wining About Art than with French wines, treats from Mademoiselle of Patchogue and the beginning of modern art.

Post-Impressionism is often marked as the beginning of modernism as artists abandoned the need for representational accuracy each with a unique form of abstraction based on inner compulsion. After touching upon the place of Impressionism in art history, the major Post-Impressionists: Van Gogh, Seurat, Cezanne, and Gauguin will be discussed. The talk will conclude with a brief survey of those whose works followed included Picasso, Matisse, and Kandinsky.
